Challenge

When it comes to the automation of business processes, Leipziger Stadtwerke GmbH, like many other municipal utilities, is challenged to ensure that software solutions should harmonize with existing as well as future requirements arising from the business process. With LAES, Likron offers a standard product – and yet every customer has specific requirements. The flexible adaptability of the processes around LAES guarantees prompt onboarding and go-live..

Likron's Solution

Leipziger Stadtwerke GmbH and Likron intensively discussed all major and detailed requirements and found pragmatic solutions to every point, which especially benefited the project schedule.

Result

In the meantime, the power trading processes are running productively and as specified through Likron. With the aim of further joint development, the exchange between the colleagues of Leipziger Stadtwerke GmbH and Likron is an ongoing process.

„When working with an IT service provider in the specialized segment of automated trading, it is important for Stadtwerke Leipzig's energy trading division to exchange information on an equal footing. With the professional colleagues from Likron things are going very positively in this respect! We feel comfortable with the decision and the cooperation is running smoothly.“
